

Volunteer in Munich/Bavaria!

The Munich Film Society (Münchner Filmwerkstatt), a non-profit association based in the Bavarian capital, is constantly looking for young people under the age of 30 from all over Europe (except Germany) or neighboring countries who want to volunteer with us over a period of twelve months. We are particularly interested in applications from the so-called "South-Mediterranean countries" such as Algeria, Egypt, Israel, Jordan, Lebanon, Libya, Morocco, Syria and Tunisia.

What we offer:

- Dozens of seminars and workshops on all aspects of filmmaking
- Live abroad for a whole year, improve your language skills, make new friends, gain experience
- Accommodation and food, visa, pocket money, health insurance, German language class
- Many other benefits according to the rules of the European Solidarity Corps

What we ask for:

We need you to help us to organize and conduct seminars and workshops for filmmakers. At first you assist in the implementation of individual workshops and the more you feel safe and secure, you can and should take responsibility yourself. You work in a team with our board, our freelance staff and our lecturers and you are involved in all rights and obligations – which of course includes taking care of our facilities. As the seminars and workshops are almost always held on weekends, you will have free days during the week as compensation.
